My First Journey by Train

Last Sunday, our class teacher took us to Agra to see the Taj Mahal. We reached the railway station and bought the tickets. The train was already standing on the platform. We got into a compartment. The guard blew the whistle. The train moved slowly. Soon the train was out of the city. A cool wind was blowing. The fields, trees and pillars looked moving fast. We saw the farmers working in green fields. The train was fully packed. We saw many towns, villages, rivers and canals on the way. The scenery out side the train was very beautiful. We reached Agra and saw the Taj in moonlight.

My Beautiful House

My name is Seema Sharma. I live at 610, Ram Lal Colony, Delhi 51. My house is neat and clean. It has four rooms. It has a big kitchen. It has a bathroom, a store room and lavatory. Its floors are cemented. Each room has two doors, two windows and two ventilators.

We have a lovely drawing room. We have spread a carpet on its floor. I have a separate room. I study in it. My room is the best and the safest place for me. I like my home very much. My house is the best place for me in the world because I live here with my loving parents. It is large enough for all of us. We are just five persons in the family. My house has a balcony. From there we have a beautiful view of park and a playground which is inside our colony. All these things make my house a beautiful and nice place to live in.

Chapter-22

Once upon a time, a clever monkey lived on a berry tree on the banks of a river. The crocodile was a friend of monkey. The monkey used to share the berries with the crocodile. The crocodile told about the sweet berries to his wife. His wife also ate some of the berries. His wife suggested that she wanted to eat monkey's heart which would be too sweet like the berries he eat. After discussion, the crocodile agreed. He made the monkey sit on his back and was going to his wife then in the way the crocodile told monkey why his wife want to meet him. The monkey thought of an idea and said that he forgot to bring his heart from the tree so he will have to go back to get it. The crocodile went back to the tree and the monkey said that you were a fool and a fool can't be his friend. The monkey asked the crocodile to go away from there.

1. The Memorable Picnic

Last week my school arranged a picnic of two days for my class. We went to Agra for two days. It was a fine cold winter morning. We gathered in the school at six o' clock. The teacher counted the students at half past six. We got into the bus and left for Agra. We all were in picnic mood. We were shouting and rejoicing. At 9 am the teacher served us breakfast. At around 11. We arrived at Agra. We kept our bags in a lodge. After a full meal we got ready for sight seeing. We visited the 'Taj Mahal' there. We saw many beautiful buildings there. We enjoyed a lot there. It was a memorable picnic for me.

2. My first day at school

It was my first day at school. I had a new bag, bottle, new books, shoes and socks. Also a doora shaped tiffin box. I was very happy about going to school with all these new things, but what I felt sad about was that I had to make new friends. I wouldn't mind if it had my old friends. I felt that my first day of school would be very boring sitting all alone. I reached my classroom, when the teacher entered in the class, I introduced my self to all and sat in my place. The day was quite boring, but when I made new friends there, I started enjoying going to school every day.

3. The watch gifted by my father

Today I am very happy because I have come first in my class, and my father has gifted a wrist watch to me. It is square in shape. It keeps correct time. It shows the days as well as the date. It has three hands the minute-hand, the hour-hand and the second-hand. Its dial is very pretty to look at. It is made of ever-bright steel. Its strap is made of leather. I wind it when I listen to the morning news on the radio. It has made me very punctual. It is very dear to me because, it is gifted by my father. I like it very much.

4. My last birthday

On my last birthday I woke up early in the morning. My mother cooked my favourite halwa for me. They wished me. I thanked them. In the evening my brother brought a cake for me I cut it. We enjoyed the party. I received gifts from my brother and sister. My mother wished me a lot of success in my life so that was my last birthday.

5. My School

My school is very good, having four storey building. It is like a 'temple' where we go daily to study. First of all in the early morning we pray to god for our better studies and say good morning to our class teacher. Then we start studying. I like to go to school daily. My school has very strict discipline which we need to follow on daily basis. I like my school uniform very much. My school is located at a very peaceful place, away from the pollution and noise of the city.

6. My Family

Family is a group of two, three or more persons living together in one home. Family can be small, nuclear, big nuclear or joint according to the number of members in the family . I live in a joint family, there are ten members in my family. My grand-parents, my parents, my uncle-aunt and their children and me. We celebrate all festivals together. We enjoy a lot. Everyday of life is a fun day with the family.

Subject : Greetings from Shiva

Dear Angad,

I am writing (write) this mail from Ranikhet. I am sitting (sit) at the window of a beautiful bungalow in the hills. The scene outside is breathtaking. A pale sun is shimmering (shimmer) through the mist, which is slowly beginning (begin) to disappear. I can now see flowers in full bloom. Butterflies are hovering (hover) all over them. The koel is singing (sing) up in the trees. I am trying (try) to locate it but can't! My mother is busy in unpacking (unpack) and father is walking (walk) around the little garden in the front. We are planning (plan) to explore the place after breakfast. I am so excited to be in such a wonderful place and we are looking (look) forward to having a great vacation. I am hoping (hope) that we should come back here again next year.

Your friend,

Shiva

2. Mahatma Gandhi
Mahatma Gandhi had among his aides a doctor who had been abroad. A woman was very sick. She came to Gandhiji. Gandhiji said to the doctor, "Give neem leaves and buttermilk to this poor woman ; she will be alright."
The doctor told the treatment to the woman and forgot all about it. After a couple of hours, Gandhiji asked the doctor, "Did you give the neem leaves to that woman?" The doctor said, "She must have taken."

Did you give her buttermilk?" Yes, she would have taken. "What kind of doctor are you?" Have you verified or not whether she has taken neem leaves and buttermilk? The doctor's job does not end with examining the patient and prescribing medicine. As long as the patient is not cured it is the duty of the doctor to treat the patient and to eradicate his troubles. Gandhiji himself went to the woman and asked "Good woman! Have you got money? At least one paisa is required for a glass of buttermilk. Where can I bring that one paisa from?" Gandhiji was pained to see the pathetic condition of the woman. He scolded the doctor and said, "Couldn't you provide her with a glass of buttermilk by requesting somebody from the village or buying it with your own money? Gandhiji gave neem leaves and buttermilk to the woman and she became alright. Gandhiji's heart was so full of love, fellow-feeling, sympathy and compassion for the poor. It is this reason why crores of people remember him as "Mahatma".

Now I am in class V but my first day at the school is still fresh in my memory. The date was 8th April when I was given admission in the school in class I.
At that time I was six years old. A teacher took me to my class, I-B. The timings of the school were from 8 : 00 a.m. to 11 : 00 a.m. My father promised to come back at 11 : 00 a.m. I was shouting and crying when I was being taken to my class. As I entered the class, everyone started laughing at me. The teacher scolded them and then she asked me many questions. I answered her questions although I was feeling afraid and was crying. After that period was the lunch break. The boys of my class made fun of me and pulled my cheeks. I got irritated and I told this to the teacher. She said that a brave boy always faces whatever came in his way so I shouldn't cry. From this statement I got courage. Then I became quite normal and stopped crying. I even made a few friends and everything became all right. But 8th April, I still remember, the first day at my school.

I am so excited today. God granted me one of my most cherished wish. Guess who I met unexpectedly? Yes! You guessed it right. I met Aliya Bhatt in the evening of August 10, 2019 as I was returning home from my friend's birthday party. She along with her friends came to attend an important event. She is not only exceedingly beautiful, but humble also. She not only gave me an autograph, but also let me take a selfie with her too. I am so elated. I will share this wonderful experience with all my friends also.

1. At the Library

Library is a store house of books. It also provides various other sources of information for reading in its premises as well as borrowing for home. The collection of library can include books, manuscripts, magazines, periodicals, videos, audios, DVDs and various other formats. Wide range of books are stored in a library and well organized in book shelves.

It is not possible for an individual to have such a wide collection of books at home. One can get access to diverse genres of books and other resources in library. It shows the need to buy expensive books and resources. If there were no libraries many students who love to read would have been deprived of reading mostly due to financial difficulties.

Library is an important part of every educational institute such as schools, colleges and universities. Such a library is open for students of the particular institute it forms a part of it. It contains a wide range of resources vital for the students.

Libraries attract people to read and develop habit of reading and learning. It increases their thirst for reading and expands knowledge, Library is also essential for any kind of research on different subjects.

Thus, libraries are important for research, information, knowledge and pleasure of reading. Libraries provide perfect environment to enjoy & read peacefully.
